Governor Harmon Bags All Ohio Votes

For Governor—James M. Cox, Dayton, O.
Lieutenant Governor—Hugh L. Nichols, Clermont county.

The role, binding the 48 Democratic National Delegates from Ohio to vote for Governor Harmon, was adopted by the State Convention by a vote of 597 to 267, after an acrimonious debate, during which it was declared that the adoption of the report of the Resolutions Committee containing the unit rule provision "would be grand larceny." The Harmon men, however, were in the majority and victorious.

ROOSEVELT FORCES ARE WEAKENING

CHICAGO, ILL., June 5.—A plan to meet at once the full force of Colonel Roosevelt's fight to control the organization of the Republican National Convention, by making permanent the temporary organization with Senator Elihu Root as chairman, was partially agreed upon by the Taft leaders.

Control of the National Committee by the Taft forces is said by them to be certain. When the committee meets at 2 o'clock tomorrow to organize, the Roosevelt forces will not attempt either to seat R. B. Howell of Nebraska, to succeed Acting Chairman Roosevelt, or to select a Roosevelt committeeman as presiding officer for the contest hearings.

TWELVE-INNING GAME

Paris Wins by Score of 4 to 3, in Hotly Contested and Exciting Baseball Battle

At Paris yesterday in a hotly contested and exciting game, the home team won from Maysville by the score of 4 to 3, at the end of twelve innings. Hauser was in the box for the locals and Beer for Maysville and both were effective in tight places, the Rivermen securing eleven hits off Hauser in the twelve innings, but all the hits for Maysville were for single bases, while the home team secured two doubles and one triple.

The score—

RAILROAD COMEDY

C. and O. Conductor Puzzled Over a Pair of Passengers in Jim Crow Car

Samuel Wilson is in the Maysville Jail awaiting trial on a rather mixed up charge. Sam may be a "nigger," but he looks like a white man, and he and Mollie Morton, the latter distinctly black, boarded C. and O. train No. 8 last night at Cincinnati, buying tickets for Maysville and going in the white coach. When the "Flyer" crossed the Ohio river bridge and got into Kentucky, the trouble started when Conductor Woodruff ordered Wilson and the Morton woman (who claimed to be his wife) out of the car into the "Jim Crow" coach. They went, but made a vigorous kick as Wilson claimed he was a white man.

To add to the commotion, when the couple got into the "Jim Crow" coach, the Conductor ordered Wilson back to the white coach. Then the commotion started in earnest and for a time there was a scene of trouble and a dozen kinds of language was flying through the air. Wilson and the woman grew so obstreperous that Conductor Woodruff telegraphed ahead to Maysville for an officer, and when the train pulled into the depot at 8 o'clock Policeman Stewart was on hand and arrested Wilson and the Morton woman on a disorderly conduct charge. The former was placed in Jail, but the doxy dame was turned loose.

This afternoon Judge Whitaker will try to unravel the somewhat complex point as to whether Wilson is a white man or a negro and what's what generally.

BATTLE ROYAL

Between Taft and Roosevelt Forces Begins Today at Chicago

The National Committee will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon to begin the preliminary fight between Roosevelt and President Taft.

Every one of the fifty-three members of the committee is expected to be in his seat when the meeting is called or else be represented by a proxy. It is known in advance that the meeting will be the most important in the latter history of the party, and abettors will be popular with both sides.

To beat Roosevelt the elder brethren are ready to do any sort of rough work with the steam roller. That is the temper of every member of the committee there who is opposed to Roosevelt, although those members are not saying so for publication.

There is a report that is taken as authentic that if the Rooseveltians are roughly used by the steam-roller crowd that Roosevelt will himself demand to be admitted to the procession and make an argument in behalf of a minority report on the contest.

Old guard Republicans are determined to drive the steam roller over Roosevelt if they have the power to do it. And the steam roller is to be started upon its work today.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

Every time you pull the cap from a beer bottle or a soda bottle you put a fraction of a cent in the pocket of W. H. Painter, of Baltimore, the inventor.

DeQuillfeldt, New Jersey inventor, made $15,000,000 out of a rubber bottle stopper he invented.

Hyman L. Lipman, of Philadelphia, got $100,000 for a lead pencil rubber eraser.

The little metal staple used to hold buttons on shoes brought a big fortune to a man named Henton, of Providence.

A man named Dennison pasted several little rings about the hole in a shipping tag and thus made an "eye" that would not pull out, and got a fortune for it.

Silverthorn retired with enough money to last him the rest of his life. Made it out of brass toe tips for boys shoes.

One man cleared $100,000 inventing a tin can.

Another invented an opener for that can and cleared nearly a million.

Still another invented the self-opening can, the one with a key, and cleared up a million.

There are certain great addresses that stand out in history as the landmarks which blaze the way for the men of the generations to come. Some of them have breathed the spirit of the time, while others have sought to hold the flood of thought from doing damage.

There is Webster's "Seventh of March" speech, which doomed him politically, but a few years later saved the union when it became the primer of every national speaker and when its phrases were repeated solemnly in every household. It was a noble sacrifice, worthy of the great man who made it.

Then there is Lincoln's Gettysburg speech the greatest oration ever pronounced by man, ancient or modern, and not alone breathing the spirit of the day, but of all time. A few hundred words hastily scribbled on the back of an old envelope while on the train to Gettysburg where he was to introduce the orator of the day, it will live forever, while the world has forgotten even the name of the other orator.

Senator Foraker's address at the Columbia burying ground on Memorial day bids fair to rank as one of the nation's great classics. Like Webster's great speech it has been delivered at a time when public opinion has been rendered fluid and bids fair to run outside the banks. Perhaps, like Webster's great speech, it is one that today that will hardly be considered popular. But that it is a great speech in that it, too, will make them stop and think even the most rabid of his opponents must admit. It shows one of Ohio's greatest sons at his best. It is a crowning achievement of a life filled with effort in behalf of the people; it is the voice of a man with a wisdom ripened by experience; of a prophet who seeks to find in the past the things wherewith to read the future; of a man who has lighted the lamp of experience wherewith to guide the nation's footsteps.

This one sentence should make the people

pause, in order that in soberness and deliberation they may work out the problems which they have inherited rather than plunge headlong into the untried and the experimental.

"Today we have the mightiest republic the world has ever seen. The whole world acknowledges it and respects it. We have enjoyed unprecedented prosperity under our form of government and with our institutions. We have had the greatest success of the ages. Yet there are some people who would have you lose faith in our institutions."

Truly, are we for the Old Flag or the red rag?—Commercial Tribune.

The last survivor of the revolution was Daniel F. Bakeman of Cattaraugus county, New York, who died in 1869 at the age of 109 years, according to the records of the pension office.

The last survivor of the the war of 1812 was Hiram Cronk of Ava, N. Y., who died in 1905 at the age of 105.

Somewhere about the middle of the present century the last living veteran of the civil war will surrender to the Great Conqueror. He will be laid to rest with a soldier's honors, and the last living document of a great era will have been filed.

The pension department estimates that there are living today some 500,000 of the 1,700,000 Union soldiers who were alive when the first Decoration day was celebrated in 1868. There are 40,000 less than there were a year ago, and next year there will be 45,000 less than there are now. The tables show that there will be left 429,727 veterans in 1915, 251,727 in 1920, 116,073 in 1925, 37,033 in 1930, 6,296 in 1935 and but 340 in 1940. Some time about the middle of the century "finis" will be written.

The contemplation of these figures brings before us the entire tragedy of man. Proud and boastful, yet he is as but the blade of grass, to wither and to die in the appointed time. And so, too, inevitably must come the time when there will be the last survivor of his race, eons in the future it is true, but as inevitable as the laws of day and night and those which guide the universe. For, some day, the world will start on its return revolution, the sunshine will depart, the ice cap will come southward slowly and slowly, but with regular step, and life and vegetation will disappear.

How weak and powerless are we in all our might and glory!—Commercial Tribune.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

The reason a woman can understand a man is he can't her.

Neither side to an argument ever gets convinced and everybody else gets disgusted.

A woman's mission in life is to try to make a man happy because he doesn't deserve it.

The most enjoyable thing to a woman about a vacation is if she has a fireplace at home to hide the silver.

A man seems to think the way to catch an early train is for everybody else in the family to get started about it earlier than he does.—New York Press.

ONLY ONE WAY OUT OF IT.

General Isaac Sherwood, who represents the Toledo district in the House, is a veteran and a great pension getter for his constituents.

A year or so ago the general had a letter from a widow living in his district asking for a pension. He wrote to her to send the necessary proofs of her husband's service, death and all other essentials. He received certificate and affidavits from the doctor who saw the old soldier die, the undertaker who buried him, the minister who read the service over him, and various other people—all stating that the man was undoubtedly dead. The pension was obtained. A few days ago the General received a telegram from the pensioned widow reading: "My husband turned up today, alive and well! What shall I do?" "Kill him!" wired Sherwood in reply.

And again this week it is a Maysville woman. You are not asked to act upon the word of a stranger. The best guide to the truth is the honest opinion of the neighbors—the encouraging words of neighbors, is always given.

Mrs. Louise A. Hafer, 316 W. Front street, Maysville, Ky., says: "The statement I gave in 1908 recommending Doan's Kidney Pills was correct and I am pleased to confirm it. For ten years I had trouble from my back and although I tried various remedies they seemed to do me no good. I had pains across the small of my back and sharp rheumatic twinges in my muscles. I had nervous and dizzy spells, and seemed as tired in the morning as if I had not been to bed. Finally on the advice of a member of my family, I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Wood & Son's Drug Store. They soon relieved me."

Stubborn Case

"I was under the treatment of two doctors," writes Mrs. R. L. Phillips, of Indian Valley, Va., "and they pronounced my case a very stubborn one, of womanly weakness. I was not able to sit up, when I commenced to take Cardui.

I used it about one week, before I saw much change. Now, the severe pain, that had been in my side for years, has gone, and I don't suffer at all. I am feeling better than in a long time, and cannot speak too highly of Cardui."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

If you are one of those ailing women who suffer from any of the troubles so common to women.

Cardui is a builder of womanly strength. Composed of purely vegetable ingredients, it acts quickly on the womanly system, building up womanly strength, toning up the womanly nerves, and regulating the womanly system. Cardui has been in successful use for more than 50 years. Thousands of ladies have written to tell of the benefit they received from it. Try it for your troubles. Begin today.

DIFFERENT NOW

Since the Slugger, Coffee, Was Abandoned

Coffee probably causes more biliousness and so-called malaria than any one other thing—even had climate. (See just as harmful as coffee because it contains caffeine the drug in coffee).

A Ft. Wayne man says:
"I have always been of a bilious temperament, subject to malaria and up to one year ago a perfect slave to coffee. At times I would be covered with boils and full of malaria poison, was very nervous and had swimming in the head.

"I don't know how it happened, but I finally became convinced that my sickness was due to the use of coffee, and a little less than a year ago I stopped coffee and began drinking Postum.

"From that time I have not had a boil, not had malaria at all, have gained 15 pounds
good solid weight and know beyond all doubt that this is due to the use of Postum in place of coffee as I have taken so medicine at all.
"Postum has certainly made healthy, red blood for me in place of the blood that coffee drinking impoverished and made unhealthy."
Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.
Postum makes red blood.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in page.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

MILLION BUSHEL:

Of Blue Grass Seed This Year Will Make Bumper Crop

The stripping of the big crop of blue grass seed in Central Kentucky began yesterday.

A normal crop is between 600,000 and 800, 000 bushels. Seed men say that the crop this year will amount to about 1,000,000.

Samuel Clay, who owns 4,000 acres in Bourbon county, has sold the seed rights of his land to Harry Brent of Paris, for $10,600.

CALCULATION IN CORN

Shows How Rapidly It Multiplies
When It Comes to Planting

A man told The News Democrat the other day that he planted the seed from 19 ears of corn upon two acres of land last week, and had some left. The 19 ears were grown in 1910, weighed 2 pounds May 24th, 1912, and gave 17 pounds of shelled seed, besides a quart of tip and but grains, the cobs weighing a little less than 4 pounds. At this weight, 57 ears would make a bushel of seed corn, or 54
a bushel of market corn. It is said that there are about 11,000 plants on an ear of corn planted 3 1/2 feet, and if each plant grows such an ear as one of these, the yield would be something more than 200 bushels per acre.

Historic Blackguards

By
Albert Payson Terhune

The Duke of Monmouth, Blackguard or Coward

SEVERAL thousand armed Puritans marched through Western England in the early summer of 1685, singing
hymns at the top of their lungs and offering up fervent prayers. Duke of Monmouth thinks that all sin was about to be abolished and that a pious man was leading their country back to the "good old days" of Oliver Cromwell.
The "pious man" was James, Duke of Monmouth. He had about as much piety as a peacock—and almost as much beauty. To this day it is hard to decide whether he was more blackguard or arrant coward. Probably an equal blend of both.

Charles II of England died without a direct heir. Thus his younger brother mounted the throne as King James II.
Many English people hated and distrusted King James. Many politicians looked on him as an enemy of their pet schemes. A large number of Englishmen were Puritans who were disgusted with the dissipation and extravagance of Charles' reign
and sighed for the graver, godlier
times of Cromwell.

Monmouth was the son of one Lucy Walters, who claimed to have been secretly married to Charles II. Monmouth declared he was therefore the rightful heir to the British throne.
He (and the politicians who made use of him) said the records of the marriage and of his birth were hidden in a mysterious "black box," and would be produced at the proper time.
Charles had publicly denied this story.
But this proved little. For Charles had a way of denying anything he did not want to confess. And he had lent color to the rumor by his great affection for young Monmouth.

Now that Charles was dead and James was on the throne, in 1685, Monmouth was thrust forward by a group of shrewd men as England's lawful King. His advisers first worked on the weak Duke's ambitions, then persuaded the Puritans that he would bring back the customs of Cromwell. They induced Monmouth to raise the flag of rebellion in the west of England where Puritanism was strongest. Monmouth proclaimed himself King at Taunton, and declared James II had poisoned King
Charles to gain the crown.

At once thousands of farmers, peasants and shopkeepers flocked to the Duke's standard. They were simple, honest, God-fearing men who believed Monmouth's promises and hated evil living. But no noblemen (except a few exiled adventurers, etc.) joined him.

At Sedgemoor, in the early morning
of July 6, 1685, Monmouth's troops found themselves close to the King's army. The Duke had planned a night attack. But in the darkness his forces came to a water ditch they could not cross. There, unable to advance, they were attacked and routed by the royal soldiers. The peasants and other Puritans fought like heroes and were literally cut to pieces before they would retreat. But at almost the very beginning of the battle Monmouth fled in terror, leaving the helpless followers to die for a man who was deserting them. (This was the last battle ever fought on English soil.) Those not killed in fight were hunted out and slaughtered by the soldiery or hanged
by hundreds at Judge Jeffrey's cruel orders.

Monmouth galloped away, closely pursued. Later, disguised as a beggar, he was caught in a bean field where he had hidden. In vain he went down on his knees weeping, entreating his captors to spare him. He was sent to London Tower, and was condemned to death. He offered the King anything to spare him, promising to betray his associates, change his religion—anything! Says Macaulay: "He clung in agonies of supplication around the knees of the King." But James knew no mercy. Then Monmouth wrote to the Queen, begging
her to intercede for his life, saying with better fervor than spelling:
"I do abhor the thing that I have done. . . . I detest all those people who have brought me to this.
I am an object of your pity, having been counseled and cheated in-
to this horrid business. . . .
Your prayers cannot be refused, since I am begging for life only to serve the King."

Even this whine did not save him, though it was later reported that he was smuggled to a French prison and became "The Man in the Iron Mask," yet Monmouth was really beheaded, July 16, 1685. Finding he could not live, he managed to go to the scaffold with some show of bravery, even advising the executioner how best to sever his head at one stroke. This advice made the executioner so nervous
that he bungled the deed.

So perished the handsome, vain, set, most sly man of his time. A man unworthy to rule, unworthy to have led braver, truer men to their ruth.

MISS BERRY'S RECITAL

Piano Pupils Show Highest Order of Musical Culture and Finish

An Italian historian, an English novelist and a French lawyer have recently written lengthy dissertations on the decadence of culture, the greed of gain and general rash of the times precluding the gentler, more refining influences, they argue.

Could the historian leave his sunny Italy, the buxom Englishman his home and the courtly lawyer at the French bar tear himself away from LaBelle France, they would know that in one corner of the world—old Kentucky—the youth were being nurtured and trained for the drawing room as well as the sterner demands of life.

There need be no anxiety as to the decadence of the beauty and chivalry, for which our beloved state has so long been noted, judging from the miniature men and women, who delighted us at last night's recital.

This work-a-day world would indeed be a prosaic abiding place were it not for the things that appeal to our intellectual nature.

All the adjuncts at our command would but give an inadequate conception of the finished execution these little Kentuckians displayed.

Miss Berry's class ranging in advancement from the tiny totto bravely starting up the bill of a musical education, to the pupils so near the heights, who so understandingly rendered the most difficult compositions.

Miss Berry's work needs no eulogy as her large and ever increasing class speaks more eloquently than words of the rare training her pupils receive.

The following is the personnel of Miss Berry's class:

- Miss Louise Douglas Rogers.
- Miss Florence Doan.
- Master Leslie Walker.

Are You Blue and Worried?

Nervous? Some of the time really ill? Catch cold easily and frequently suffer from biliousness or headache? The reason is that your system does not rid itself of the poisons in the blood; just as impossible as it is for the grate of a stove to rid itself of cinders. The waste does to us exactly what the cinders do to the stove; make the fires burn low until enough cinders have accumulated and then prevent the burning at all. Your liver is sluggish—the poisons are not taken to the stomach, nor is food appetizing. In this condition illness develops. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery eradicates the poisons from the body—a glyceric alternative extract made from bloodroot, golden seal and manradia root, stone and queen's root, without the use of alcohol. No matter how strong the constitution the stomach is apt to be "out of kilter" at times; in consequence the blood is disordered, for the stomach is the laboratory for the constant manufacture of blood.

Mrs. Blake.

Mrs. Thos. Blake, of Port Dover, Ont., Box 26, writes: "I have been a great sufferer for years from throat trouble, catarrh, indigestion, female troubles, bloating, constipation and nervousness—at times I would lie in bed, then able to lie up again. You under many different doctors' care, and would get better for a little while, then I would go down with chronic inflammation all through me. For nineteen years I had this trouble in my blood. After trying nearly everything I got worse, I read in The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. I have taken both bottles of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. I am now able to do my work and walk with pleasure. I feel like a new woman. I enjoy everything around me and thank God for letting me live long enough to find something that made me well once more."

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, Lucas County.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the city of Toledo, county and state aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Subscribed before me and subscribed in my presence this 5th day of December, A. D. 1906.

A. W. GLAZIER,

Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
